SPECIAL STUDENTS

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT OF GLENDALE UNION HIGH ENROLLS A LARGE NUMBER

Just before the High School opened, George Sawyer, in charge of the Commercial Department of the school, sent out an invitation to adults and special students of the community to enroll for double period shorthand work. The response has been very gratifying. A class of twenty pupils comes afternoons for this special work, which includes a double period of typewriting also. This class is under the special instruction of Miss Goldthwaite.

Mr. Sawyer reports with pride that the Commercial work is heavy in practically every line. In arithmetic, for example, he planned for three classes averaging about twenty-seven each, and instead he has had to arrange for four classes of about thirty each. In bookkeeping there is a beginning class of thirty students and he finds a big per cent of increase all along the line, showing that the department is meeting a popular demand.

In P. A. Fullen, the special instructor in penmanship, Mr. Sawyer says the Department has been exceedingly fortunate, as he comes highly recommended by Zaner as a teacher of his system. He has four classes, all of which are full and average about 35 students to the class. In addition to his High School work he is supervising writing in all of the grade schools of the city and will have a grade-teacher class of about fifty-five, once a week.

Another new teacher is Miss Gertrude Ballard, who holds three gold medals from John R. Gregg, author of the Gregg System, and also a gold medal won in a national competition for rhythmical drills in typewriting. She will specialize on shorthand, typewriting and office practice.

A new feature, but one which is making a strong appeal to students, is the word study classes. These are under Miss Fay McEndree, who is a fine linguist in the Latin tongues (French, Spanish and Latin). The origin, meaning and spelling of words is studied. No spelling lesson is assigned, however, the pupils being called upon to spell the words without preparation and also to name synonyms and give definitions. These classes furnish no end of amusement aside from their valuable drill, and are making quite a hit with students. Miss McEndree also teaches arithmetic.

CHANGE STREET NAMES

Why not have the names of the streets whose names have been changed placed upon the curbing or neatly prepared posts at the street corners? For more than a month the Evening News has been publishing daily the change of the names of the streets, and commencing with this issue of the Evening News the new house numbers and the names of the streets as changed will be used in all descriptions of locations given in the paper. The easy way to change names of streets and house numbers is for everybody to work in harmony and make the change immediately.

Why have a city ordinance that Third street has been named Wilson avenue, and continue to have the name Third street lettered on curbings and posts? Why pass an ordinance and then pay no attention to its enforcement?

CORPORAL JAMES W. GIBSON

Mrs. Dora Gibson has received several letters from her son, Corporal James W. Gibson, telling of his voyage overseas, on which he was fortunate enough not to be at all seasick. He says he enjoyed it all and didn't mind sleeping in a hammock. He was particularly impressed with the beauty of the water and of the sunsets, but writes he missed the purple of the mountains and thinks after all he would rather be a "land lubber." He landed in England. Most of the 40th Division to which he belongs have gone to France and he is probably there with his own battery, of the 143d Artillery, unless he has remained in England to attend a school of instruction for gas officers. He was a gas instructor at Camp Kearny.

EASTERN STAR DINNER

Glen Eyrie Chapter, O. E. S., will entertain the Matrons and patrons of 1918 at Masonic Temple on Thursday, September 26. All Eastern Star people and their families in the valley are invited. If you expect to attend the dinner, notify Mrs. Warren Roberts, Glendale 772-W, not later than Tuesday, September 24.

HELD TO DUTY

GOVERNMENT WILL NOT ACCEPT RESIGNATIONS FROM EXEMPTION OR MEDICAL BOARDS

In connection with the new draft, the local Exemption Board is receiving minute instructions from Washington, via Adjutant General Borree at Sacramento. One ruling recently received was to the effect that the medical examiners who have been serving the Board may not be drafted except by permission of the Board. As there is a call for army physicians and enlistments in that branch may still be made, some of the local physicians who desire to go have been quite disappointed over the refusal of the Board to relinquish them until the men under the last draft have been examined and classified.

A telegram dated September 18th, has to do with the service of members of the Exemption Board, and reads: "The increasingly large number of resignations of members of local boards threatens the serious impairment of the efficiency and expeditious classification of new registrants. Hereafter no resignations may be accepted until after reference to this office (Washington) with complete statement of the facts and the personal recommendation of the Governor. Under Section 6 of the Selective Law, Board members having been appointed by the President are compelled to render service as such members until relieved therefrom by the President."

Chairman Lanterman says Questionnaires are being sent out without the Order Numbers by the special instructions of the Provost Marshal. A Serial number will be given each Questionnaire and the Order Number will have to fit the Serial Number. The Order Number will be given as soon as the drawing takes place, and the man receiving the Questionnaire, by referring to his serial number will know the order number that belongs to that serial and know what his position will be in the draft.

The Board has been instructed to prepare and mail Questionnaires to registrants between the ages of nineteen and thirty-six. This will be done this week. The Questionnaires are now about ready for mailing. It has entailed a tremendous amount of work, as each Questionnaire must be signed by some member of the Board, and there are 3500 of them all told.

As soon as they are received, it is urgently requested that the registrants attend to the filling out of the Questionnaires immediately because of the large amount of work which will be necessary in the classi-

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Arthur R. Oliver, head of the department of Mechanical Drawing at Glendale Union High, enjoyed a double celebration of his birthday Tuesday evening. A birthday supper with all festive accessories, including a birthday cake, was served at his home, and then Los Angeles friends carried him and his family off to that city, where another birthday cake adorned with the proper number of candles was cut and enjoyed by a party of congenial spirits. He had an exceedingly good time, but he is a little worried about those two cakes and hopes Mr. Hoover will not find it out. He does not feel that he was at all to blame, however, and is ready to have another birthday any time.

DR. FAY G. STONE CALLED

Dr. Fay G. Stone of this city has been made very happy by the receipt of a telegram containing the best news he has had, he says, in a year. It is an official telegram instructing him to report for duty to the commanding officer at Camp Fremont, Palo Alto. He has been trying to get into the service for a long time. He expects to leave Glendale Saturday or Monday.

Dr. Stone has been a dental practitioner in this city for several years and has a large circle of friends here. He is a prominent member of the Elks Lodge and will be greatly missed.

LIBERTY LOAN ITEM

Capt. Moran, a Canadian soldier recently from the front, will be the principal speaker at a meeting to be held at the High School auditorium Thursday night of next week, 8 o'clock.

VOLUNTEERS

The Liberty Loan Committee will appreciate the services of any volunteer workers in the sale of Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds. Make applications to the heads of precincts as shown in published lists.

BATTERING THEIR WAY TO ST. QUINTIN

FOURTH BRITISH ARMY HAS REACHED A POINT FOUR MILES NORTH OF ST. QUINTIN.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

London, Sept. 19.—The British have repulsed a violent counter attack on an eight-mile front southwest of Cambria inflicting heavy losses on the enemy, and have also repulsed attacks at Gauche wood and north of Mobiezre.

In the meantime the British are continuing to batter their way toward St. Quintin. The Fourth British army has reached the Hindenburg line at a point four miles north of St. Quintin. On the Fourth army's left the Australians have repulsed an attack and have carried outposts of the Hindenburg line after heavy fighting.

The French have penetrated Concasicort, two and three-fourths miles south of St. Quintin.

Eight thousand prisoners have been taken by the British since the operation started yesterday.

TODAY'S CASUALTY LIST

TWO HUNDRED SEVENTY-TWO NAMES IN THE CASUALTY LIST REPORTED BY THE WAR DEPARTMENT TODAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, September 19.—Today's casualty list contains the names of 62 killed in action; missing in action, 68; wounded severely, 84; died of wounds, 26; died of aeroplane accident, 1; wounded, degree undetermined, 5; died of disease, 17; died from accident and other causes, 3; wounded slightly, 3; prisoners, 3.

Californians named in the list are:

Missing in action—Sylvain Hourcle, San Francisco.

Died from aeroplane accident—Lieut. C. L. Kohlmeier, 1054 Ingraham street, Los Angeles.

METZ BEING BOMBARDED

IS NOW UNDER FIRE OF HEAVY GUNS OF THE AMERICAN ARMY WHICH IS DIRECTLY IN FRONT OF THE HINDENBURG LINE.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

With the American Army on the Metz Front, Sept. 19.—American aviators today report that American heavy artillery is now reaching the center of Metz. Shells have hit a large factory and struck many fortifications.

BULGARIANS FLEEING BEFORE THE ALLIES

FRANCO-SERBIAN ARMY IS PURSUING RELENTLESSLY AND GREAT QUANTITIES OF MATERIAL HAVE BEEN TAKEN.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

London, Sept. 19.—The Bulgarians, beaten by the new Franco-Serbian offensive are fleeing and the allies are pursuing them relentlessly, according to an official Serbian report received here today.

The Franco-Serbians have captured seven additional towns and have advanced a total of twelve and a half miles. The Bulgarians brought up reinforcements but these also were beaten.

The retreating Bulgarians are burning villages and destroying supplies wherever they have time, but the allied advance has been so rapid that great quantities of materials have been taken.

WILL LET AMERICA ANSWER

ALLIES DECIDE TO LET AMERICA'S REPLY TO AUSTRIAN PEACE NOTE STAND AS THEIRS.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

London, Sept. 19.—It was reliably learned today that the allies probably will let the American answer to the Austrian peace note stand as theirs, but that later all the allies will united in a joint statement of their war aims.

MEXICAN AND CHINESE LABOR TROUBLES

DISPATCHES FROM CALEXICO INDICATE THEY GREW OUT OF ACCEPTANCE OF LOW WAGES BY CHINESE, BUT HAVE BEEN SETTLED.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Calexico, Sept. 19.—It was reliably learned here today that the differences between the Mexican and Chinese ranch laborers, have been settled. The troubles gave rise to a report that a Chinese massacre was impending. The difficulty was over the acceptance of low wages by the Chinese.

MORE HONORS

TWO STUDENTS IN MECHANICAL DRAWING AT G. U. H. S. RECEIVE PREMIUMS

The faculty of Glendale High have had occasion for special rejoicing of late, for honors to its students and graduates have been coming thick and fast. Two of special importance which were quite unexpected, have been bestowed within the past week upon students in the Department of Mechanical Drawing, of which Arthur Oliver is the head.

The school was requested to have its pupils enter drawings at a competitive exhibit of mechanical and architectural drawings at the State Fair at Sacramento. The opportunity was extended to all the high schools of the state, so the competition was quite spirited. Two students in second-year work in Glendale forwarded four drawings each. One of these was Dean Bryant, son of Dr. A. L. Bryant, who is a member of the High School Board of Trustees. His exhibits were mechanical drawings made in the course of the year's work and not specially prepared. To him was awarded first premium.

The second competitor was Rhuark Dudley, of La Canada, who sent architectural drawings which, as in the case of Dean Bryant, had not been specially prepared. His entry received second premium.

It is the first time the school has participated in such an exhibit and it is highly gratifying to Mr. Oliver and the faculty as a whole to receive this proof of the good work that is being done by students of the school. It inspires greater satisfaction from the fact that it was done in the regular school course and not a special effort. There would probably have been more entries from the school if the rest of the class had completed sets of drawings at the time the call came. But these may be considered as fairly representative of the work of the department.

Both students are young men of great promise and both are looking forward to professions in which their skill in this direction will be of great value. Dean Bryant is planning to fit himself for engineering work. Rhuark Dudley is expecting to study architecture.

The list of other students or graduates to whom honors have come within the past two weeks includes:

Captain Eugene Imler, who made the highest record in his class in four years of work at Throop College of Technology, with 485 credits out of a possible 500.

Harold Venske, who was given second rank in the big freshman class at Stanford University, with 261 points out of a possible 300.

POISON OAK

Ezra Parker is having another siege with poison oak. He is a reliable authority now upon remedies, for he has tried them all and his knowledge is at the service of all sufferers. Ask him. His latest information in regard to the poison is that it is an oily vapor that drifts in the air and penetrates clothing. The first thing to do after you have been exposed to it is to scrub the exposed portions of your anatomy with soap and water and then apply alcohol, rubbing it in thoroughly. If you get after it early enough, Mr. Parker thinks, it will neutralize the poison before it takes effect, but after it once gets into the pores it is a hard thing to fight.

CARNATION LODGE CELEBRATES

The members of Carnation Rebekah Lodge who assembled at their hall on Tuesday evening to celebrate the 61st anniversary of the founding of their order, spent a most enjoyable evening. After the business session, an excellent program was given, as follows:

Song, "America."

Piano Solo—Mrs. Laura Jones.

Reading—Miss Gladys Jones.

Piano Solo—Miss Lucile Negley.

Reading—Miss Helen Ingledue.

Mrs. Margaret Smith of Nebraska, who is visiting her brother, Dr. Smith, and Mrs. Veazley were guests of the evening.

Carnation Rebekah followed their usual custom on these occasions and contributed 25 cents per member to the Odd Fellows Orphan Home, which they sustain at Gilroy, California.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday except cloudy or foggy tonight and in the early morning. Gentle southwesterly winds.

HARVEST FESTIVAL

SURPRISE SPECIALTIES BY PROFESSIONALS AFTERNOON AND EVENING

Today and tomorrow the hitherto exclusive realm of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior will be invaded by scores of energetic workers who will proceed to transform their beloved High School campus into a busy mart. By four p. m. Friday, the metamorphosis will be complete and the portals will swing wide to the public in the name of the Red Cross. Everybody will be welcome and it is hoped that all of Glendale will respond to the call to come and "do their bit" and enjoy themselves in the doing of it.

Surprise specialties by professionals and some of our best home talent will be given at intervals during the afternoon and evening of both days. A fine 50c dinner will be served in the High School cafeteria at 6:30. At seven p. m. Walter Ross will give a cornet solo with piano accompaniment. This will be followed by a reading by Mrs. Thomas Otway Treen, known professionally as Helene Sullivan. The title of the selection is "The Red Cross Call," a fine dramatic poem by Prof. W. H. Carruth of Leland Stanford University. Mrs. Treen will be gowned in a manner symbolical of "The Greatest Mother in the World."

The spectacular pageant, "The Great Souls of Little Things," featuring esthetic dancing and singing, will be given on the athletic field at 8:30 p. m. Tickets for this will be 25c.

A WINTER IN INDIA

The lecture and stereopticon pictures given by Cameron Johnson Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian church were considered by many as being the finest of the series with which Mr. Johnson has favored Glendale audiences from time to time. Mr. Johnson is not only an interesting speaker, but his pictures, taken and colored by himself, are not only splendid specimens of photographic art, but the scenes selected and reproduced in the most beautiful colors could only have been the work of an artist.

The subject, India, was made intensely interesting from the fact that Mr. Johnson spent eleven weeks in India and there was the personal touch given which is sometimes lacking in these illustrated lectures. Mr. Johnson goes east about the middle of next month and will deliver his lectures at Salt Lake City and other points en route. This possibly may be the last opportunity of hearing Mr. Johnson, although many are desirous of hearing him again.

IMPROVEMENT ON BAZAAR PLAN

The ladies of the Glendale Congregational Church are planning a big Halloween social for the evening of November 3d and are advertising the fact to pre-empt the date. They usually raise money at this time by giving a bazaar, but inasmuch as all are they do not wish to lay aside, they have decided as a substitute to each give the amount in money which she would contribute to the bazaar if given. The social will be a jolly, get-together affair at which the ladies will turn in their pledges.

RETURN FROM MOTOR TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Papineau, 359 West Ivy, accompanied by their sister, Mrs. W. A. Oliver, returned Wednesday evening from a motor trip which took them as far as San Francisco. They went up the valley route and after spending two days in the Bay city, returned by the picturesque coast route. They were two days on the trip each way. On the way home they motored 230 miles Monday and 270 miles Tuesday. They report the coast road as being in excellent condition. Mr. and Mrs. Papineau and Mrs. Oliver spent the summer at Big Bear, where they have a cottage.

AMBULANCE DRIVER

Miss Lena Whitney, of the Griselda Apartments, Los Angeles, who was a dinner guest of her aunt, Mrs. C. W. Ingledue, 501 East Wilson avenue, on Tuesday, brought with her most interesting letters from her brother, Russell Wayne Whitney, who is an ambulance driver in France. Mr. Whitney left a most lucrative position to enlist and says that while he wishes the war was over, yet he would not be anywhere else for anything in the world. He relates as many of his experiences as the censor would permit and will have much to tell when he returns. Mrs. Ingledue was very glad to hear from this favorite nephew.

A NEW SERVICE FOR HOMEBUILDERS

The ever onward march of progress records another victory. The old time lumber yard is fast becoming a memory, with its bleak, ugly, unpainted sheds and dirty office, and in its stead is the Modern Building Store where in place of boards and timbers to greet the customer we see extensive displays of actual photographs of completed homes and buildings.

The material merchants have come to realize that the home builder is not interested in how many feet of 2x4 it takes to build his home and the price per thousand feet of lumber does not interest him. What the customer wants to know is what the new home will look like, how it will be arranged and what it will cost.

In answer to this demand of the building public, an extensive and modern building service has come into being, namely, the Lumbermen's Service Association. This is an organization composed of experts in home designing and construction and through its members (the local lumbermen) they furnish ideas, suggestions, information and plans of modern homes and buildings. A wonderful display of pictures of homes with floor plans in attractive albums is shown and the customer can buy a home just as he would buy a complete article from any merchant.

Local members of this Association are the Fox-Woodsum Lumber Company and the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber Company, and both of these progressive firms have equipped complete Service Departments in their stores, where the prospective builder can study the designs and get valuable information on any building subject. This service, together with plans, is furnished free to builders, and the public is invited to visit their Modern Home Displays.

Through the efforts of this Association, the merchants of Glendale have co-operated in a weekly campaign for community development to be waged in form of full-page illustrated editorials in each Thursday's Glendale Evening News, starting today. Watch for it and read it every week. It's a message to you from the progressive firms of your city.

STEPHENS' POLITICAL AXE BEING SHARPENED.

This is the word that is quietly going the rounds in Sacramento. Although based only on rumors there seems to be very good reasons for such rumors.

A lot of politicians—and others—were pretty badly fooled at the outcome of the primary election. Straddlers on the candidate fence, who were ready to flop to Rolph, find it isn't easy to clamber back to the Stephens corral.

There are any number of positions, both fat and fair, that are filled at the pleasure of the governor, and it is these according to the aforementioned rumor, that are to receive the full benefit of the housecleaning.

The pro-Rolph offices will be easy to handle, but there are also a lot of men who failed to come out pro-Stephens, and it is on these that the heavy hand of the executive axe-wielder will be felt the most.

VALUE OF THE CENT UNIT

The action of the New York Federated Food Board in bringing about a reduction in the price of milk in a chain of popular priced restaurants operated in that city is regarded as significant of other changes to come, not only in New York, but elsewhere, says the New Haven Register. Three months ago the restaurants served notice that the price of milk to their patrons would be doubled, that a glass would henceforth cost 10 cents instead of five. Now that is changed, and an eight-ounce cup of milk costs five cents and a 12-ounce glass 10 cents. This disregard of the cent as a measure of value is typical of the attitude of a number of lines of business serving the public. The proprietors have pleaded the advance of the prices of commodities to them by the wholesalers, together with the advance of wages they have had to pay their help, and have used these as an excuse to advance the price of articles 100 per cent. Because the advance was from five cents to 10, the public stood it rather than object. In other days, before the cent returned as a unit of value, the raise would have been taken without objection. Yet in few cases was the advance of 100 per cent justified.

The figures show that round steak in San Francisco jumped from 19 to 32 cents a pound and from 21 to 31 cents in Los Angeles. Eggs and butter that could be bought before the war for from 30 to 35 cents a dozen or pound respectively, were 45 to 50 cents in June, 1918. There has been considerable raising since June that alter these official figures a great deal.

It might have been a coincidence; but the day the Yankees started the drive for German soil millions of loyal Americans registered for military service.

MARE ISLAND NEWS

The flag of an admiral is within reach of the humblest man in the navy, Captain Harry George, commandant of Mare Island navy yard, declared in a statement to enlisted men written for the 72-page anniversary edition of the Short Circuit, this month.

After charging the enlisted men with the sacred duty of upholding the traditions of the navy, Captain George said, "Be diligent in your professions, and perfect yourself in the duties assigned you. You belong to a service in which loyalty, fidelity and obedience are the watchwords of success. Be truthful—errors of judgment may be condoned—untruthfulness never. Be fearless and resolute in the right.

"In your relations with one another and the world conduct yourselves with kindness and forbearance. Your uniform is a badge of honor that should not be disgraced. Be clean in thought and deed. Vice is not manly, but an indication of weakness and decay. Be gentle to the weak and sympathetic to the suffering—a gentleman in all things.

"The flag of an admiral is within the reach of the humblest man. Perseverance and assiduity are rewarded in the navy as in no other walk of life. Determination is the keynote of success. May you find the way."

NIGHT BRINGS LONDON ITS WAR ATMOSPHERE.

The real war London is London at night.

London of daylight hours is a trifle disappointing to the newly-arrived American, eager for "war sensations." He finds no shell holes, no air raid scars, as he had expected, nothing in the physical makeup of the city to indicate it is in the war zone.

On the streets are many men in uniform, but a much greater number of civilians than anticipated. People are calm. They go about their business quietly. There is little talk of war. People don't seem to like to talk about it.

It remains for the night to draw back the curtain.

The first unmistakable "war feel" comes when darkness begins to fill the crooked streets and the Oxford-gray tones of the buildings sink to a sombre brown-black. There is no defense against that darkness, which permeates the city slowly, like a thickening fog, absorbing one outline after another. There is something inevitable about it.

On both sides of the street the houses present solid walls of black. Not a pencil of light escapes from the light-tight-window-shutters. Failure to close the shutters at nightfall is an offense punishable by a heavy fine.

Here and there down the street is a subdued street lantern—under a hood which makes it invisible from above—looking more like a Japanese lantern at a garden party than a street light. An occasional red light marks a subway entrance—an air raid refuge.

Now and then a pedestrian emerges from the darkness, is dimly visible an instant as he crosses the faint glow near the street light, and then disappear into the obscurity from which he came.

After 10:30 p. m. the streets are practically empty.

PITTSBURGH UNIT FEEDS MULTITUDE

By Frank J. Taylor
(United Press Staff Correspondents)

WITH THE AMERICANS NEAR CHATEAU-THIERRY, Aug. 17. (By Mail.)—That ambulance unit from Pittburgh has a mess sergeant who is a genius. Nobody knows how he was able to feed so many people with the supplies he received, but he did it, and questions aren't asked after a thing is done.

The ambulance unit was host to everyone who came along hungry for a couple of weeks after the Americans entered Chateau-Thierry. When the unit moved in it took a house near the cross roads for headquarters. The sergeant established his kitchen in the garden at the side.

The Germans did not leave any food in Chateau-Thierry, and units that came into the town brought food for their personnel only. As the fighting moved on up the line, there came a continual stream of casuals going through the ruined city on the way to their outfits fighting up front.

There weren't any restaurants anywhere, so these "extras" got the habit of wandering into any kitchen for a bite. The ambulance unit, being nearest the cross roads, got most of them. The unit was host to everyone who came along.

"Nope, we don't get any extra ration for them," said the mess sergeant of the unit from Pittsburgh, "but it doesn't make any difference. We put all we have in the stew, and as long as there is any left, anybody's welcome to it."

It usually lasted until everybody was satisfied, thanks to the way the mess sergeant and his cooks figured it out.

Then the refugees who had been driven out of Chateau-Thierry by the Germans started coming back. Everything they had owned was looted by the Germans and their houses were battered down by artillery. When it came meal-times they were hungry, and looked on at the kitchen of the Pittburgh unit hungrily.

The mess sergeant saw them and invited them in for a "chunk of bread and a plate of stew." The refugees ate it like starving people. It was a pretty sight to see them scattered over the lawn, old and young French refugees, doughboys, officers, army workers of all kinds, smacking their lips together over the Pittsburgh unit's stew.

Someone asked the mess sergeant how he made food go far enough for 50 to a hundred extra every meal. "Just making the most of what we have," he said. "If feeding people's going to help lick Germans, we're going to feed people."

The example of the Pittsburgh unit was one of the many pretty illustrations of good fellowship made greater by the common purpose and sacrifice of the great offensive. As one doughboy put it, "You forget all about yourself when you get lost in one of these offensives."

NAPOLEON POINTS WAY FOR BOCHE-CHASERS

(By United Press)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 20. (By Mail.)—In a tiny village that is hardly a village any more, since shells almost removed it from the earth, one building has a tower standing untouched. A platform tops this tower, and a miniature figure of Napoleon stands there facing and pointing toward the positions held by the Germans.

Thousands of shells have whizzed and exploded by this tower, but none has touched the tower or the figure of Napoleon pointing northward. Thousands of Americans, thousands of trucks, quantities of guns and ammunition and supplies have rolled over the main street by this figure pointing the way to the Boche during the past few weeks.

Everyone has marveled that the tower with the miniature Napoleon withstood all bombardment, and many an American passing the statue among the ruins has remarked how appropriate is this defiant figure pointing the way.

TUJUNGA

The attendance at the Red Cross meetings for the past three sessions has been very slim, and if we are to have our quota of 200 garments finished by October 1st, it behooves everybody to get busy. Cold weather is coming on and the children as well as the soldiers in hospitals need the garments. Don't let any excuse keep you at home, at least for a part of each of these days, if you can not do more. Work and machines are ready for you.

Mr. and Mrs. McClenroth and Mr. and Mrs. Dean motored to Garvanza on Sunday afternoon.

There is yarn for socks and scarfs on hand. All who have knitting out are requested to finish and send in to Mrs. Dean. In knitting the socks, it must be remembered that we are knitting for the Pasadena Army and Navy League, and must follow their instructions. Some have been returned made from Los Angeles Red Cross directions, and the toes have to be raveled out and made over. As the Pasadena Navy League are furnishing free wool for our use, we will be obliged to make them after their directions. These directions are very simple and easily followed. We must remember we are soldiers, and obedience to the word of our commanders is the law.

More than an inch of water fell during the last rain and the weather following it has been so cloudy that fruit is suffering from the conditions.

Personals

Mrs. J. F. Lilly will arrive this afternoon over the Santa Fe from an extended visit with her parents in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

The many friends of Mrs. T. C. Arbuthnot of 336 North Maryland avenue, who has been reported as quite ill, will be glad to learn that she is much better.

Jason Killgore, who recently resigned as radio operator with the Federal Steamship Co., is taking a rest at home preparatory to joining the U. S. Signal Corps.

Medames Smart, Lemon, Palmer, Pettit and Jones, of the Glendale W. C. T. U., spent Wednesday at the state headquarters of the W. C. T. U. in Los Angeles in war service work, making bandages, comfort bags, etc.

Sam Hoadley and wife, who recently sold their ranch property near Fresno and in Oregon, have come to Southern California to live and may locate in Glendale. Mrs. Hoadley is a sister of J. A. Killgore, 507 Vine street.

News has been received by Mrs. S. J. Mosher that her son E. D. Mosher, who left for Camp Lewis on July 22, has been made a sergeant. Mr. Mosher's company is working overtime and will no doubt be sent over in record time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mosher, recently of Honolulu, have located in Pomona, where both were well known before they went to the islands to live. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan have been visiting with Mrs. Morgan's mother, Mrs. S. J Mosher.

Myron Griswold and Billy Gould of the Tropico district tried work at the shipyards, but decided not to continue it. Mr. Griswold is a specialist in iron work and wanted employment in that line, but could find no opening and did not want to undertake constructive work.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Mrs. Head and her two little daughters, and Wirt Franklin, who is a guest in the Franklin family, spent Wednesday in Catalina, returning in the evening and dining with Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin and family.

Friends of Mrs. Isaac Pearson of Harvard street have been quite concerned over her serious illness, but late reports indicate that she is improving. She is an old resident who is greatly beloved and has many friends in St. Mark's Church and other circles in Glendale.

Dr. Royal J. Dye and wife, of Pomona, who were missionaries on the Congo in Africa for 16 years and were forced to return home on account of ill health, were in Glendale last evening at the Christian church, outlining a course in Mission Study which the Church is to take up.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kinch and family have returned to Glendale after an absence of some months, during which time they made the trip by auto to Washington. Mr. Kinch and family formerly resided on Orange street, but are now established in Apartment 4, 1017½ West Broadway.

Trustees of the High School held a meeting Wednesday afternoon, which had been adjourned from Thursday last week because that was a holiday. President Young, Secretary Bryant and Trustees Shaw and Campbell were present and school problems were talked over and bills audited.

Mrs. C. M. Black of 518 West Fifth received a card recently from a nephew, Edward Entwistle of Canton, Ill., who enlisted with a Chicago company. He was in the Picardy fight, was wounded in three places and gassed. He wrote from a hospital somewhere on the French coast. He said only 17 of his company came back out of the fight.

Miss Frances Porter, granddaughter of Mrs. S. C. Porter of 405 West Harvard street, whose home is in Riverside, will spend the winter in Glendale with her grandmother and aunt. She was graduated from the Art Department of Riverside High School last spring and has accepted a position in the designing department of Barker Brothers, furniture dealers of Los Angeles, and will go back and forth from Glendale daily.

F. Booth, 318 East Broadway, has just received a letter from one of his sixteen nephews fighting in France for nearly three years with the British Flying Squadron, that he thinks the war will soon be over, as they have practically gotten the Germans beaten now. Mrs. Booth's brother is at present in a Maryland hospital, just invalided home suffering from shell shock, but hopes soon to be out and over the top again.

OPENING OF MAGNOLIA SCHOOL

It is a matter of great satisfaction to the parents of the children of the first and second grades, living in the district, that the School Trustees have decided to re-open the Magnolia street school.

In response to a petition and to representations made to them by Mrs. Ernest J. Morgan and Mrs. E. E. Hearin, in which it was shown that some 25 or 30 little tots were compelled to cross the busy and very dangerous boulevards of Central avenue, Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue to reach the Acacia street school, the Trustees realized that it was not only just but expedient that the school should be opened.

The petitioners feel that they are especially indebted to Mrs. Charles H. Toll, the President of the Board, for the immediate and kindly interest she took, when it was shown how many little ones there were who were daily exposed to the very real dangers of crossing and recrossing the P. E. tracks and the other busy highways.

The school is to be opened next Monday, September 23d, with Mrs. Barkley (of the Cerritos avenue school) in charge.

HOW AN AUSTRIAN CRUISER SUNK

By Henry Wood

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Sept. 1. (By Mail.)—Hungarian papers have just reached Italy by way of Switzerland containing an interview with one of the survivors of the Austrian cruiser Santa Stefano, sunk by an Italian motorboat under the command of Commander Rizzo.

The interview contains graphic details of this new form of naval combat which has been developed exclusively by the Italians since the beginning of the war. The sea-going motorboats with which the Italian navy is now harassing the Austrian fleet are similar to the thousands of motorboats to be found at every sea and lake resort in America. In only one respect do they differ, and that is in the two torpedo tubes at the sides, from which deadly torpedoes glide out into the water.

Combats between these little boats and the huge Austrian warships resemble to a certain degree a submarine and warship encounter, except that the motorboat commanders, unable to save themselves by submerging, take a thousand times more chances, meeting the foe in open combat and counting on the smallness of their craft and their speed and cleverness in maneuvering.

This is the way the novel combat in which the Santa Stefano went down before the audacity of Commander Rizzo and his motor boat looked to the Hungarian sailor aboard the doomed Austrian cruiser:

"At 4 o'clock in the afternoon we received orders to prepare for sailing. We left Pola (the Austrian naval base) at 10 in the evening. Toward 3:30 in the morning we discovered that an Italian motorboat was only a short distance from us, and a moment afterwards there were two terrific detonations.

"The first torpedo penetrated into our munitions magazine, but did not explode. The second passed through the hole made by the first and penetrated into the engine room.

"Immediately all electric lights went out. Wireless apparatus ceased to work, and even the pumps were put out of commission, so that we were obliged to work the pumps by hand to keep the water down. In order to lighten the ship we threw overboard all our heavy munitions.

"After two hours of terrific work we were forced to recognize that there was no hope. Toward 6 in the morning the bridge gave way and the captain, who had been standing on it, was plunged into the sea, but succeeded in regaining the ship by swimming.

"Our signals no longer worked, and finally the captain fired three revolver shots as a signal for the entire crew to stand by and line up on deck. Some fifty sailors who were working in the bottom of the ship failed to hear the signal and remained below. With them was Lieut. Bovis.

"After the usual ceremony the chaplain gave us final absolution, just at the moment that the battleship began to go down. We threw ourselves into the sea, and after three-quarters of an hour were picked up by torpedo boats that were escorting us. There were also picked up the bodies of several of the sailors who were drowned in the bottom of the ship, and these were interred later with military honors at Pola."

JAP FARMERS GET RICH

(By United Press)

TOKIO, Sept. 1. (By Mail.)—Japanese farmers have long purses, well filled, as a result of war prosperity which has come to them since last autumn, according to G. Shimura, president of the Hypothec Bank of Japan.

A year ago, these farmers seemed inextricably burdened with debt, owing their banks an aggregate of $100,000,000, and being compelled to pay a yearly interest of $7,500,000, Shimura said. Today the farmers have taken up $12,500,000 of these loans, are making almost no further requests for loans, and are buying heavily of Hypothec Bank debentures of the smaller denominations. From being insistent borrowers, they have become transformed into investors.

For three years, the Japanese employed in industries reaped the chief gains from the war. Last fall, the tables turned. Prices of rice, raw silk and tea were lifted upward by the war demand, and have stayed up. The result is the unparalleled prosperity of Japanese farmers. On the other hand, these high prices have created a heavy demand for small loans in industrial communities, as factory workers have felt the pinch of the higher cost of living.

Since prosperity has attended the life of farmers, deposit rates of banks in the provinces have become much lower than those of town banks. Deposits with co-operative clubs in agricultural districts also are increasing with astonishing rapidity, President Shimura said. With farmers so well provided with funds, and with prospects good for even greater income from the coming harvests, it is expected that the greater part of any issue of government bonds, such as to meet expenses of the expedition to Siberia, will be purchased by the rice, silk and tea farmers of Japan.

IT'S AN ILL EARTHQUAKE THAT SHAKES NO GOOD

(By United Press)

ROME, Sept. 1. (By Mail.)—The American Red Cross in Italy is using part of the wreckage of the 1915 earthquake disaster at Avezzano and Sora to construct a badly needed day nursery at the latter place.

No new building material being available, the Red Cross got to work and collected enough bricks, timber and metals from the ruins that once was Sora, the result being that a building which will care for 400 babies while their mothers are attending to harvest duties is now in operation.

It will be recalled that the earthquake practically wiped out Avezzano and Sora. The former place received most of the help given by Italy and the rest of the world. Sora, the smaller town, did not get much assistance. Nothing has been rebuilt there, and the suffering caused by the earthquake has been aggravated by war conditions. The people have been trying to live in the debris of their homes and many of them are destitute.

AMERICAN WOMEN ARE CARING FOR OUR BOYS

(By United Press)

More than 600 are enrolled in the "Care Committee" which has subcommittees all over England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland.

Every American soldier who returns to England, his temporary "blighty," sick or wounded, is visited and supplied with comforts of various kinds—gifts of flowers, fruit and delicacies, as well as articles of clothing.

These American women work untiringly. They assist men who have run out of funds, organize picnics, river trips and sightseeing excursions, as well as write letters home for those of the boys who are unable to do so themselves.

This work was begun before America came into the war, for even at that time there were many Americans enrolled in British and Canadian regiments. Some of them are now discharged because of wounds, and in such cases the Care Committee provides them with facilities for returning to their homes in the States.

fication of men and the brief period allowed the Boards to cover that work, because it is necessary for the government to know as soon as possible what its man power is.

The Legal Advisory Board will be in session every day and every evening after Thursday of this week at Eagle Rock, Glendale, San Fernando and Burbank, under the supervision of the Chairman of the Legal Advisory Board, Hartley Shaw. It is advised that the registrant avail himself of the opportunity to have the assistance of some member of the Legal Advisory Board as his classification will depend entirely upon the Questionnaire as it is presented to the Board at this time. It will be far more difficult to modify the Questionnaire under this draft than it was the last time as the work is so much more extensive and has been so thoroughly systematized, and the registrant must not feel aggrieved at the Board because it refuses to accept any further evidence bearing upon the facts stated in the Questionnaire. The Board's instructions therefore are: "Have your Questionnaire complete in all its details when filed, and file it as soon as possible."

The segregation of registrants into classes according to ages has caused a large amount of extra work which has been done almost entirely by volunteer clerks. About forty of these assistants, most of them teachers in the Graded and High Schools were at the Board headquarters Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. Another volunteer corps of workers will be there today. Every one of the 3500 cards must be copied and the copy compared with the original card. A tabulation must be made of the ages, occupations, nativity, citizenship and separate complete list of all registrants showing serial numbers, name and address, and this list will be furnished the newspapers as soon as completed. It will also be posted at the office of the Exemption Board and a copy will be filed with the office of the Adjutant General at Sacramento. A tabulated list already has been forwarded to the Provost Marshal General at Washington.

The following list of patriots are among those who have helped the Board within the past week and whose names will be sent to Washington to be there recorded: J. K. Gilkerson, J. Hazlett, Bessie Church, Bertha Berry, H. A. Strong, Matilda M. Speik, Margaret D. Longley, Ida M. Waite, Alma Green, Harry Howe, W. D. Root, Elizabeth Lorbeer, Elda M. M. Eggert, Helen Goldthwaite, G. F. Sawyer, M. Irene Mueller, Helen White, Elsa Bremneman, Dorothy B. Poppy, Edna A. Jones, Anna A. Stewart, Daisy W. Wilson, Ellen J. Harrison, Dora Gibson, Bessie L. Field, Helen M. Darsie, Helen Kalliwoda, P. A. Fullen, Elizabeth Jackson, May Cornwell, Harriet L. Douglas, Lois Hatch, R. A. Blackburn, Roy D. King, Mrs. M. Ryan, Mrs. H. Salisbury, Ethel B. Land, Mrs. Hartley Shaw, Susan E. C. Bailey, Henrietta Naftel, D. R. Jackson, E. M. Church, Nora Parker, Miss B. H. Jones.

RED CROSS REPORT ON HOME SERVICE

The war council of the American Red Cross has planned to issue a series of reports to the American people concerning the use of the first Red Cross war fund of $100,000,000 and the plans so far perfected for future work.

The first section of these reports issued September 1 covers the work of the Red Cross in caring for the families at home of America's men in militant service. The report on this subject says in part:

More than 300,000 families of American men in service have been relieved of money troubles, legal difficulties, family worries, or of depressing loneliness by the home service of the Red Cross. This branch of Red Cross activity has 50,000 men and women serving on its 10,000 home-service committees. It has reached into remote communities where there had never been organized social effort before. It has established the closest co-operation in the largest centers of population with the organized agencies of public welfare. It is spreading a doctrine of intelligent substantial neighborliness on behalf of the fighters' families and backing it with an expenditure of over $400,000 a month.

These expenditures have been made out of money raised in the communities themselves and reserved from the amount contributed to the national Red Cross war fund.

More than 1,000,000 people have been helped by these local committees since the war began. Money has been, certainly, the least valuable contribution of home service to the welfare of communities since men began to go into training camps, but it amounted to $1,500,000 for the first six months of the present year and will probably exceed $4,000,000 for the second half of the year. By January 1, 1919, Red Cross will have spent in home service word a total of $6,000,000 and will then be carrying a burden, probably, of nearly $1,000,000 a month.

The work of the home service section as organized in France is under the supervision of R. G. Hutchins, jr., vice-president of the Bank of Commerce of New York City.

The purposes of home service, sanctioned by the Army and Navy and by President Wilson, are to conserve human resources in fighters' families, to relieve emergencies, to supplement government provision for dependents, to aid disabled soldiers, to supply information of any kind to men in service or to their families, to help families to keep pace with fighters who are getting a broader outlook on life, and to help maintain the morale of our Army and Navy by safeguarding homes. Home service has enlisted help from all creeds and races and is extending its aid to every person who will accept it regardless of rank, religion, or color. It is not charity, but only that neighborliness which is due every fighter from the people of the whole United States.

Billy Sunday Says—

"The renter who sings 'Home Sweet Home' and 'My Country, 'Tis of Thee' is kidding himself and serenading his landlord."

Yes, Bill, and that ain't the only way he's kidding himself—he owes $30.00 a month for the rest of his life. If he lives 25 years he has paid $9000 and owns nothing but the furniture —and 300 rent receipts.

Design No. 520

This typical colonial bungalow is the latest creation of the designer's art. Five rooms with the living and dining rooms across the front and cozy breakfast nook off the kitchen. Two delightful bed rooms with bath between. The pergola covered terrace with French doors from both living room and dining room is a desirable feature. This home painted white with green shingled roof is adapted to any lot and lends to the civic attraction of any community. The floor plan will show it is just as convenient as it is attractive and it costs less than you would imagine.

DO YOU KNOW?

That Glendale is popular throughout Southern California as being the city with wide and well-built streets. This fact is especially true in the business part of the city. A prominent member of the Pasadena Board of Trade was responding to a toast at a get-together luncheon of the business and professional men of Glendale last fall, and when comparing the advantages and disadvantages of Pasadena and Glendale he remarked that it would be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to his city if Colorado boulevard (which is the main business street in Pasadena) could be replaced by a street as wide and beautiful as Brand boulevard of Glendale.

An abundant supply of gravity and artesian well water are also attractions that are worthy of noticing when it comes to considering real substantial inducements for securing a place of residence in Glendale.

Glendale is noted as being a well-lighted city and at a cost that is less than any other city in the United States. The water and light rates are both very low—within the reach of every consumer and these two features are attracting home seekers to this section of the valley.

The transportation service to and from Los Angeles is first class. The Pacific Electric railway company is equipped to give first class accommodations. In the earlier and later portions of the day, cars arrive and depart every fifteen minutes, and during the mid-day hours a twenty-minute service is given.

The Real American is the man who owns part of America--a Home.

The American spirit is one of independence---and that man who truly possesses that spirit will evidence the fact by owning his home---being independent of a landlord's authority.

America is the best country in the world, largely by reason of its homes. The one way to make it a better country is to increase the percentage of home owners.

A home should be the possession or ambition of every American family.

"OPPORTUNITY"

Speakin' o' opportunity, they's lots o' folks allus complainin' 'bout never havin' any opportunities and makin' this excuse fer their failures in life, but I reckon mostly they just naturally fail to recognize the real chances that keep comin' along continually.

Folks what is allus complainin' that they must a been away when old Dame Fortune come a-knockin' at their door would most likely find her waitin' jest 'round the corner if they would trouble to take a peek. I calc'late this friend o' man aint' usually found runnin' loose with a big sign on her or waitin' on the door step beggin' to be let in like some poor relation or somethin'.

Take fer example o' an ever-present opportunity, the buildin' of a home. It's allus in the grasp o' every man o' any back bone and it's sure one o' the best opportunities I know of.

Yes, sir, buildin' a home is plannin' and keepin' a life-long pleasure; it's financin' will teach wise management and put into every member o' the family the savin' habit. It's fulfillin' a duty to your town, your family and yourself and makes you a better citizen, husband and father. It furnishes opportunity fer the right sort o' trainin' fer your children.

No, brother, you can't have a home of your own by just wishin' fer it. You must work and save fer it. Opportunity is a mountain and the station o' "Home Ownership" is close to the top o' the trail. The road ain't hard to travel if you fire your energy with the fuel of ambition. Too many folks rather travel the down grade of empty pleasure and extravagance, which paths lead into the Valley of Delay—the Land of Renters.

Just take a tip from me and put down that hammer and quit associatin' with the knocker element. Build a home o' your own and you'll find joinin' the colony of contentment where most o' the worth-while folks live, will make you feel like close kin to opportunity.
